Sonoma International Teaching Experience

The German Program at Sonoma State University offers students who are interested in German language instruction a unique teaching and tutoring opportunity through our Sonoma International Teaching Experience (SITE). Our university is located in the wine country of Northern California, about one hour north of San Francisco.

Our Language Teaching Assistants (LTAs) from abroad support our language learners inside and outside the classroom: They assist the language instructor (e.g. by teaching mini-modules on language, history or culture). They also offer extra-curricular activities, such as tutoring sessions, German events through the language club, or the German Film Series.

As an LTA you will enroll in "Practicum in Foreign Language Learning and Teaching" (GER 495, 12-16 hours per week), in the fall and in the spring. Many LTAs take courses in Teacher Education or Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) which can support their studies at their home university. For more information about our LTA Program in German, including the application procedure, please contact Dr. Michaela Grobbel @ grobbel@sonoma.edu.
